Sir:

The following is the Revised Appellants Appeal Brief under the provisions of 37 C.F.R. 41.37, and is submitted in response to the Notice of Non-Compliant Appeal Brief dated October 19, 2007. Per the request made in the Notice of Non-Compliant Appeal Brief, only Sections 6 and 7 are being resubmitted, since those were the only sections that were noted as being defective.

6. Summary of Claimed Subject Matter

The present invention is directed to a web-based system and method.

In more detail, an alias of a URL is displayed by a client's browser to show the identity, so to speak, of a page a user is trying to get to. In some instances, this ends up being a different URL to the one the user was intending to get to. An example of this might be if one was to type in <http://www.yahoo.co.uk>, and end up at <http://uk.yahoo.com/> - which is not the URL the user asked for, strictly speaking. In the present invention, users are diverted to a different URL just as yahoo might do as described above; and so, overall, users get served their pages quicker. The difference with the yahoo example above and the present invention is that the present invention is provided so as not to allow the users to SEE the different URL that the user is actually taken to, because that might allow the user to try to get to that URL in the future rather than a possibly different one the web operators may want them to go to, thus possibly interfering with load balancing. So, in the present invention, by analogy to the yahoo example given above, although the user might be sent to a second URL (<http://uk.yahoo.com/>), the browser would continue to display the first URL (<http://www.yahoo.co.uk>), and the user would never know the difference (and that he/she has been diverted).

Independent claim 1 recites:

A method of providing a sub-page of a website to a requesting client comprising the steps of:

sending to the client, with a copy of a first web page, a link which points to an address of a server on which a copy of the sub-page is hosted;

actuating the link; and displaying, at the client by way of a browser, an alias for the address of the server on which the copy of the sub-page is hosted, wherein the alias is an address of a web page which is served to the client, and wherein the alias is displayed by the browser.

Support for the “sending” step in claim 1 may be found on page 5, lines 4-10 of the specification, and in Figure 2 of the drawings.

Support for the “actuating” step in claim 1 may be found on page 5, lines 16-18 and page 6, lines 12-14 of the specification.

Support for the “displaying” step in claim 1 may be found on page 6, line 17 to page 7, line 12 of the specification.

Support for the first “wherein” clause in claim 1 may be found on page 7, line 14 to page 8, line 2 of the specification.

Support for the second “wherein” clause in claim 1 may be found on page 6, line 17 to page 7, line 12 of the specification.

Independent claim 11 recites:

A method of operating a web server to provide a sub-page of a website to a requesting client, comprising the steps of:

receiving, from a client via a browser, a request for a first web page hosted on the server; sending to the client, with the first page, a link which points to an address within the Internet of a further server hosting a copy of the sub-page; and sending with the first web page instructions which are executable upon actuation of the link to cause a browser program to display an alias of the address of the further server, wherein the alias of the address of the further server is different from the address of further server, wherein the alias is an address of the further server which is served to the client, and wherein the alias is displayed by the browser.

Support for the “receiving” step in claim 11 may be found on page 5, lines 4-7 of the specification.

Support for the first “sending” step in claim 11 may be found on page 5, lines 4-10 and page 6, lines 19-22 of the specification, and in Figure 2 of the drawings.

Support for the second “sending” step in claim 11 may be found on page 6, line 17 to page 7, line 12 of the specification.

Support for the first “wherein” clause in claim 11 may be found on page 7, line 34 to page 8, line 2 of the specification.

Support for the second “wherein” clause in claim 11 may be found page 7, line 14 to page 8, line 2 of the specification.

Support for the third “wherein” clause in claim 11 may be found on page 6, line 17 to page 7, line 12 of the specification.

Independent claim 21 recites:

A web server adapted to respond to a request from a client via a browser by sending to the client a copy of a first web page and to include with the first web page a plurality of links each of which points to a different predetermined address within the Internet, each predetermined address being an address of a further server, the web server being adapted to send with the first web page and in response to said request, instructions executable, upon actuation of one of the plurality of links, to instruct a browser program in the client to display an alias of the predetermined address, wherein the alias of each of the predetermined addresses is the same, and wherein the alias is different from any of the predetermined addresses, wherein the alias is an address of a web page of the further server which is served to the client, and wherein the alias is displayed by the browser.

Support for “sending to the client a copy of a first web page and to include with the first web page a plurality of links each of which points to a different predetermined address within the Internet” features in claim 21 may be found in Figure 2, which shows links represented by icons 102, 104 provided on a first web page. These features are also described on page 5, lines 12-26 of the specification.

Support for “each predetermined address being an address of a further server” feature of claim 21 may be found on page 6, line 31 to page 7, line 2 of the specification.

Support for “the web server being adapted to send with the first web page and in response to said request, instructions executable, upon actuation of one of the plurality of links, to instruct a browser program in the client to display an alias of the predetermined address” features in claim 21 may be found on page 5, lines 14-18, page 6, lines 12-17, and page 8, lines 32-35 of the specification.

Support for the “wherein the alias of each of the predetermined addresses is the same, and wherein the alias is different from any of the predetermined addresses, wherein the alias is an address of a web page of the further server which is served to the client, and wherein the alias is displayed by the browser” features of claim 21 may be found on page 6, lines 15-32, and page 8, lines 17-30 of the specification.

Independent claim 22 recites:

*A method of obtaining a sub-page from a website comprising the steps of:
requesting from a web server a copy of a first web page; actuating a link on the first web page which points to an address within the Internet of a further server hosting a copy of the sub-page; and actuating code associated with the link to cause a browser program to display an alias of the address of the further server, wherein the alias corresponds to a first URL that is different from a second URL corresponding to the address of the further server on which the copy of the sub-page is hosted, wherein the alias is an address of a web page of the further server which is served to the client, and wherein the alias is displayed by a browser.*

Support for the “requesting” step of claim 22 may be found on page 5, lines 4-7 of the specification.

Support for the first “actuating” step of claim 22 may be found on page 5, lines 16-18, page 6, lines 12-14, and page 7, lines 28- 31 of the specification.

Support for the second “actuating” step of claim 22 may be found on page 6, line 17 to page 7, line 12 of the specification.

Support for the first “wherein” clause in claim 22 may be found on page 7, line 34 to page 8, line 2 of the specification.

Support for the second “wherein” clause in claim 22 may be found page 7, line 14 to page 8, line 2 of the specification.

Support for the third “wherein” clause in claim 22 may be found on page 6, line 17 to page 7, line 12 of the specification.

7. Grounds of Rejection to be Reviewed On Appeal

The grounds of rejection to be reviewed on appeal are: (1) whether the examiner erred in rejecting claims 1-24 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 6,751,777 to Bates in view of U.S. Patent Publication No. 2003/0028599 to Kolsky; (2) whether the examiner erred in rejecting claims 11, 21 and 22 under 35 U.S.C. § 112, 2nd paragraph, as being indefinite; (3) whether the objection of claim 10 has been overcome.
